Palliative
Care
Queensland

Invites all interested health professionals to attend an education evening with

Dr Judith McEniery

Palliative Care Physician – Ipswich Hospital PCU

‘Palliative Care – An Indian Perspective’
Exploring the possibilities of international teaching and mentoring programs in palliative care

Dr Judith McEniery is a graduate of the UQ School of Medicine, having worked in a range of clinical areas from Paediatrics to General Practice before finding Palliative Medicine her ‘true niche’. Judith has worked in Brisbane, Sydney and London, before returning to her home town of Ipswich where she is now employed as a Palliative Care Consultant at both the Ipswich Hospital Palliative Care Unit and the Ipswich Hospice.

Judith’s interest in India not only includes the wonderful culture, sights, cuisine and people, but also the emergence of Palliative Care there. This presentation will feature aspects of Judith’s journey, with a chance for participants to gain an understanding of the benefits of involvement in future mentoring and teaching programs.
